

Libertia peregrinans 'Gold Leaf'

BLOOM LEAF:

- Pure white flowers
- olive green/orange foliage

SIZE:

- 0.5m H x 0.5m S
- Compact, spreading

USE:

- Garden border/Rockery
- Patio container

Name: Libertia

Full Name: Libertia peregrinans 'Gold Leaf'

Flower: Profusion of pure white star like flowers in spring

Leaf: Upright, stiff olive green foliage with a prominent orange midrip in the autumn

Mature Size: 0.5m H x 0.5m S/Compact growth, spreading

Preferred Location: Garden border/Patio container/Rockery

Likes: Full sun to semi shade and moist fertile garden soil

Dislikes: Temperatures below -8°C

Grown in: Ireland

Libertia peregrinans 'Gold Leaf' has dramatically coloured foliage in autumn and winter. This species forms a clumping spreading habit and has spiky, stiff leaves with an orange midrip. 'Gold Leaf' is an ideal plant for using in mixed planters for autumn, winter and early spring arrangements. It will give you outstanding impact for a long period of time year after year if planted in the garden. The plant spreads slowly by underground rhizomes and can be easily dug out if it encroaches into areas where it is unwanted.

